

How We Clean

How do we do such a remarkable job on our cleanup? It all comes down to training and workflow.

Our hospital cleaning specialists have received customized, extensive training to provide you with the best clean that is possible. Our staff knows the ins and outs of hospital cleaning, from proper ways to prevent infection in an exam room to completing a terminal clean in an operating room.

Each and every employee is trained using proven techniques and is supervised during their work.

OUR TRAINING

Is specific to the healthcare environment and job role. We aren't a one size fits all solution by any stretch of the imagination. We realize certain areas need specialized attention and incorporate your cleaning needs into our training.

Our training embraces the latest technologies, promoting efficiency, and is constantly being improved by forward looking research into new tools and techniques.

Teaches comprehensive and customized service. No wonder we have so many repeat customers – we work customer service thoroughly into our training, and educate employees on how to customize cleaning to the client's liking.

OUR EMPLOYEES CREDENTIALS

All employees are background checked and trained in infection control

All cleaning professionals are aware of universal precautions, fostering safety.

All company personnel learn compliance with safety and regulatory orders with a focus on blood – borne pathogens.

IT'S ALL IN THE DETAILS

We are extremely proud of our cleaning team and their attention to detail. No stone is left unturned. They pay special attention to high touch areas like:

- towel dispensers
- faucets
- push plates so that nothing is left to chance.
- flush handles

Examination rooms, nurses' stations and utility rooms are cleaned under supervision
